Biologically, a child (plural: children) is a human being between the stages of birth and puberty. The legal definition of child generally refers to a minor, otherwise known as a person younger than the age of majority.. Child may also describe a relationship with a parent (such as sons and daughters of any age) or, metaphorically, an authority figure, or signify group membership in a clan ...

Television plays a central role in children's everyday lives. Almost all American families have at least one TV set, and half own three or more. 1 Two-thirds of children age six and under watch television every day, usually for around two hours. 2 But television's influence doesn't end when a child's favorite show is over. Even when he is involved in other activities, such as playing ...
