systems to control dust. When purchasing dowel drilling equipment, opt for dust controls. Always use the dust control system and keep it well maintained. Do not use equipment if the dust control system is not working properly. Establish a documented maintenance program for the dust control systems.

The RDS Artemis is a variable rate control and monitoring system for seed drills. The system removes the need for a mechanically driven landwheel by operating the metering unit with an electric motor maintaining its speed proportional to forward speed, or adjusting sowing rates to suit the mapping provided by the precision farming option if this is utilised.

DRILLING FLUIDS FL-1 IADC Drilling Manual Introduction Drilling fluids are fluids that are used during the drilling of subterranean wells. They provide primary well control of subsurface pressures by a combination of density and any additional pressure acting on the fluid column (annular or surface imposed). They are most often circulated down the
